Mr. Mackay was sent to Camp Devens last week and received his discharge early this week. He expects to resume his duties at the National Life Insurance Co., Montpelier, soon.

That Barre's mail carriers were on the job every minute when it came to selling Uncle Sam's war savings stamps for the year ending Dec. 31, 1918, is very forcibly shown by the figures posted at the post-office yesterday. The total amount sold by both city and rural carriers was $70,190.93. Of this amount the city carriers were far in the lead with $56,609.55 to their credit. Heading the city carriers is William D. MacDonald with $16,306.36 or over $5,000 more than his nearest competitor, Thomas Garrity, who sold $11,096.95. William Craig is next highest, with the sum of $8,472.73, and D. S. Waterman follows with $7,287.94. The others are: C. L. Converse, $4,407.58; George M. Gates, $3,415.90; E. M. Lewis, $3,195.83; H. B. Houghton, $2,426.26. For the rural carriers Charles F. Ayers is far in the lead with $7,306.08. The other three are as follows: James Johnston, $3,138.74; C. G. Carr, $2,033.42; Arthur W. Robinson, $1,102.14.

The members of Vincit club held their first ladies' night of the season at the clubrooms in the Blanchard building last evening, there being a large attendance. Shortly after 8 o'clock a program was given consisting of a selection by the Landi-Forsell orchestra, a vocal solo and encore by Fred Inglis, a xylophone solo and encore by Mr. Welton, with orchestra accompaniment, a reading from Rowland Robinson by Dr. F. M. Lynde and a recall, a cornet solo by Karl Forsell with orchestra accompaniment, a vocal solo and encore by Miss Leone Reynolds and a finale consisting of violin solo by Mr. Landi with orchestra accompaniment. The program was well balanced and was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. At the close of the program the orchestra played for dancing in the hall upstairs and a large number indulged in that amusement, while others played cards. A buffet lunch was served in one of the rooms of the club's headquarters.

S. D. Allen of Barre, who, with Mrs. Allen, is spending the winter in California, writes of some of the products of that state and encloses a clipping from a California newspaper showing that four or five counties of southern California "find their gold, $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 in oranges and lemons alone," while they produce twice that amount in olives, walnuts, beans, apricots, alfalfa and many other kinds of produce. He adds: "A. D. Morse of Venice (a former resident of Barre) told me that one man near him raised $250,000 in beans last year. This is a very small part of the bean land near the ocean where fruit will not thrive." But it costs money to buy up such land, as Mr. Allen shows in the following sentence: "The farmers in Vermont should not be discouraged, for it would take an average farm of 80 acres there with buildings, running spring water and wood to buy one acre of well developed orange or lemon grove land." Mr. Allen's present headquarters is Huntington Park, Cal.

The following West Corinth item was taken from the Bradford Opinion of this week: "Word was received here Sunday night that Arthur Keezer of Websterville was dead and his relatives requested a grave to be dug Monday which request was granted and after it was dug word came that they had buried him at Barre. He had two brothers, Eli and Chester, in this town. He also leaves a wife."

Miss Marion Dane, formerly a teacher in Spaulding high school and during the first part of the present school year the preceptress of the Newport high school, was united in marriage to Stanley G. Judd of Cobleskill, N. Y., at the home of the bride's brother, Walter Dane, in Newton Highlands, Mass., on Jan. 25. The bride was attended by her three nieces, Harriet and Helen Dane, as flower girls and Barbara Dane as maid of honor. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Judd will reside at Cobleskill. They became acquainted at Lyndonville, where Mrs. Judd went to teach after resigning her position in Spaulding high school. She has a large number of friends in Barre who will join in extending congratulations. Mr. Judd is an instructor in the school of state agricultural school at Cobleskill, having received a discharge from the army.
